iGEEKSBLOG

Key Takeways

- You can quickly change Apple Watch ringtone in watchOS 11 by going to Settings > Sound and Haptics > Ringtone.
- Apple also lets you change Apple Watch ringtone from iPhone. On your iPhone, launch Watch app, select Sound and Haptics, and tap Ringtone.
- watchOS offers 8 different ringtone for Apple Watch and doesn't support custom ringtones.

Since the launch of the Apple Watch, Apple has kept all users stuck with the default ringtone. Users have long been demanding that the Cupertino tech giant add new ringtones to the Apple Watch and let them choose between them. With watchOS 11, Apple finally allows you to change the default ringtone on the Apple Watch.

So, whether you want to change the ringtone for ease of identification, enhanced alertness, or personalization, here's how to change the Apple Watch ringtone in watchOS 11.

Table of Contents

watchOS 11 available ringtones

With the arrival of watchOS 11, you now have up to 8 different ringtone options to choose from:

- Pebbles (Cellular ringtone)
- Focus
- Jingle (original ringtone)
- Nighthawk
- Transmit
- Twirl
- Windup
- Wonder

How to change Apple Watch ringtone in watchOS 11

First, ensure that the paired iPhone is running iOS 18 and your Apple Watch is running watchOS 11.
1. Open the Settings app on your Apple Watch.
2. Next, scroll down and tap Sound and Haptics.
3. Here, tap on Ringtone, then choose one of the available options in the subsequent menu.

How to change the Apple Watch ringtone from the iPhone

If navigating through the tiny screen of the Apple Watch doesn't suit your fancy, you can use the Watch app on the paired iPhone to change the Apple Watch ringtone.

1. Open the Watch app on your iPhone and tap on Sound and Haptics.
2. Here, tap on Ringtone.
3. Next, choose your preferred Ringtone from the eight available options.

Personalization enhanced...

Adding the ability to change ringtone on the Apple Watch is a welcome step many users, including me, have long anticipated. In addition to this, you can now also change the Notification or Alert tones. However, along with the eight available options, Apple should also allow users to add custom ringtones to their Apple Watch so they can truly personalize it.

Well, let's see what changes Apple brings to the Apple Watch in the future. Until then, you will fill the comments section with the features you want Apple to bring next.

FAQs

Can I use custom ringtones on my Apple Watch?

Unfortunately, the ability to use custom ringtones on the Apple Watch isn't yet available.

How do I adjust the volume of my Apple Watch ringtone?

Head to the Sound and Haptics settings on your Apple Watch or the Watch app on your iPhone, and you will find the option right at the top.

Also Read:

- How to use Apple Watch Control Center
- How to change Apple Watch face
- How to turn off green lights on Apple Watch