

Apple TV+ launched in 2019 and has become increasingly popular among streaming platforms over the last five years. Like any other Apple service, you can share your Apple TV+ with up to six family members and friends. In this article, I will walk you through how to share your Apple TV+ subscription with your family and friends.

Apple treats Apple TV+ just like any other Apple TV Channel for the TV app on iPhone, iPad, iPod touch, Apple TV, and Mac. Therefore, if you have enabled Family Sharing, then Apple TV Plus is automatically shared with all your added family members and friends. You do not have to take any extra step.

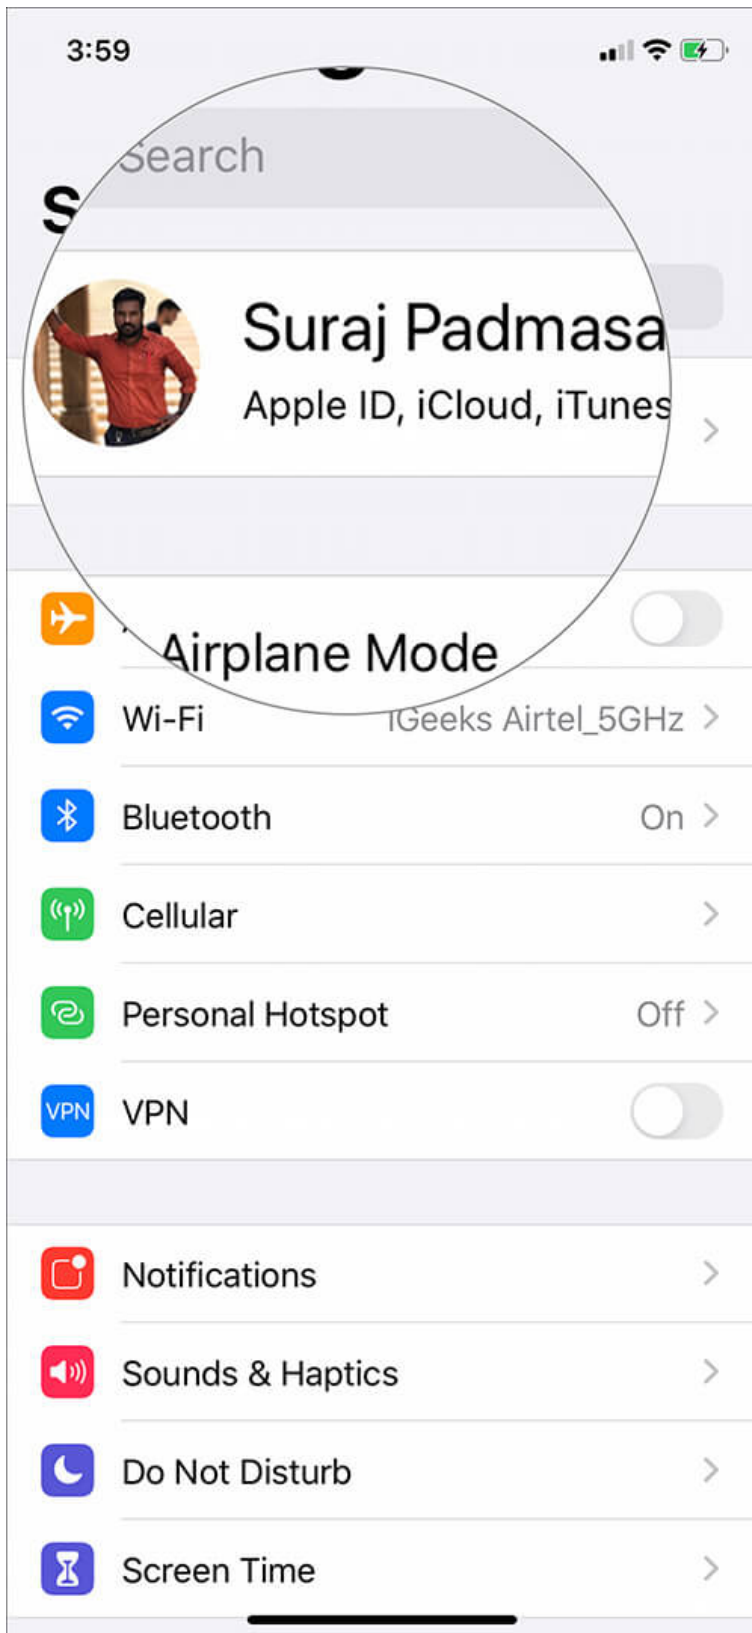

However, if you (assuming that you are the organizer/family head) would like to make sure that Family Sharing for Apple TV Plus is enabled for your family or not, let me guide you.

Wrapping up...

Besides you, five more family members (so total 6) can enjoy this service. It builds a viewing profile for each family member. This ensures that what you see is not reflected as recommendations to other persons or your kids. So, you and your wife may watch an adult or violent themed content like For All Mankind, The Morning Show, or See, and your kids can view shows suitable for them like Helpsters, Snoopy In Space or Ghostwriter.

So this is how you can share your single Apple TV+ with your family and friends. It ensures that you and your family get the full entertainment Apple offers at no additional cost.
